Well, let me try to say something about my loving brother who I enjoyed so talking to in his language. First of all, I cry as I write this because not too long ago...I lost my son Venus. It so hard to say goodbye and no one can never prepare for such an event and it's like you never can let go. Boy! how I and my family hurts yet today. Going on 8 years now. The pain is everlasting. It happened all over again to me to hear about the passing of my brother. If only I could have gotten to tell him once more "how much I love you". For a moment I couldn't function. I cried for 2 days consecutive with a numbness. I would never wish the pain I felt on my worst enemy. Just like with the loss of Venus, I totally relied on Jehovah to give me the strength I needed to continue on from day to day. As we younger ones called him Jr., He will be missed, but we know he's merely just sleeping. He's reached his finish line and paid all wages. His name is now on the scroll of Jehovah, waiting for the day of resurrection. I know he'll be there awaiting all of us just like Venus and all of the other family members we've lost to death. One day, Death will be no more, no more sickness, crying, etc. and that's when you know that you have crossed the finish line to the New Paradise. My dear brother Jr., I'm so looking forward to seeing you again with your beautiful smile and finally to really hear your voice soon and that's a promise from our Heavenly Father above. Our deepest sympathy to all of the family members of my dear brother..I will always love you. Sister Vera & Family

“ It was a blue, metal cup. You painted my name on it with red paint. Not that we could afford it, but this was at a time when you could not buy personalized items such as a cup with your name on it. You simply painted "Shirley" on it. I was about four or five at the time but I vividly remember and loved my cup. What a simple but kindhearted, loving and thoughtful gesture. I also remember the chewing gum you used to share with me. I am so happy you are not suffering and are not miserable anymore. Now you are in Jehovah's hands and being a God of love, I know He will tenderly embrace you and accept you as one of his blessed sheep because you have fought that fine fight. I love you and look forward to seeing you in the resurrection.

Your sister,
Shirley

"I have fought the fine fight, I have run the race to the finish, I have observed the faith. ?From this time on, there is reserved for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, will give me as a reward in that day, yet not to me only, but also to all those who have loved his manifestation."

“ Sending Our Sincere Condolences,
We wish to share our heartfelt expressions of sympathy, at times such as this it's difficult to express fully thoughts that can convey what is felt. Your Husband,Father, Grandfather,Brother &Uncle had attributes that truly made him a good man always smiling rest assured that is something he will certainly be remembered for as well as his love for others. The hope for such are Everlasting and can be a reminder of comfort of Peace which is what he has now. Psalms 37:11.
