“ Light a candle for a young life taken away from family. God is in control although you dont know the why and where, but know he's safe in God's arm when life is raging an sea billows roll. No words can express how Rosetta is feeling now or even later, but look to the hills for your help come from God! I pray strength and endurance for you and the family.
Tandra you like a mother hen protecting your family now put your arms around them and smother them with love and prayers!
